WOMAN'S CLUB TAKES ACTION TO IMPROVE

Plan Erection of Comfort Station and Placement of Refuse Receptacles

INVITE GIRLS TO JOIN CLUB

Mrs. Nelson H. Welch, why was to have addressed the club last Monday afternoon, was unable to keep the engagement owing to serious illness. The program committee sent out an S. O. S. call to Miss Alice Smith, who with her usual willingness to be of service kindly consented to fill the vacancy caused by the absence of Mrs. Welch. Whatever Miss Smith has to say is well worth hearing and her earnest words upon the topic "Habits of Success," gave us food for thought.

Several important matters of business claimed attention and the remainder of the afternoon was given over to reports of committees and discussions incident to these reports.

The committee having charge of the layettes to be sent to our county probation officer, Miss Permentier, completed its work and the garments were distributed among the club needleworkers for completion.

The chairman of the Child Welfare committee being ill and unable to report in person it was stated by her representative that every effort was being made to secure a county nurse for Lake county this being almost the only county in the state which is without such service. It was moved and carried that a letter be presented to the Tenth District meeting to be held on March 14th, urging that the necessary machinery be set in motion to accomplish this work.

Mrs. Edna Warriner, the tireless chairman of the committee having in charge that much desired Comfort Station, gave a full and comprehensive report of the findings of the committee and called for free discussion. For an hour the Antioch Woman's club was an animated way and means committee. Whether best to buy, to lease or to build, these are the questions that vex the souls of our club women. No definite action could be taken, as there are still details upon which the committee were unable to obtain data. But Comfort Station, that mecca of the Woman's club is slowly coming to pass, (in our wishes and imagination at least.)

"Where there is a will there is a way," we certainly have the will and we refuse to believe that a way will not be found. Fifty determined women can erect a Comfort Station or do anything else where unto they set their hands. We believe that a Comfort Station will be what its name implies to the women and children who come to Antioch during the busy summer season and we bespeak the interest and co-operation of all citizens, both men and women in a purpose as commendable as any.

It was moved and carried that an invitation be extended to all girls of high school age to become Junior associate members of the Woman's club. Many of the club programs will be not only beneficial but extremely interesting to the girls. By becoming associate members these programs are open to them. A cordial welcome will be given all who come. That which is good for the mother is good for the daughter, so come girls and join us and help along the good work the club is trying to accomplish. Some day you will take our places and so pass the work along down the line.

Mrs. A. D. Felter and Mrs. A. G. Watson were elected delegates to the Tenth District meeting to be held in Evanston, March 14.

The report of the committee appointed to investigate and obtain prices of suitable receptacles for containing the refuse and waste paper found on the street and side walks in the "Loop district," was accepted and by unanimous vote the club will purchase and place four such receptacles in the business section of the village.

With a little thrill of pride we heard the announcement made that our past president, Miss Alice Smith, is a candidate for the nomination of the office of County Superintendent and then we had our cup of tea and a few moments of social chatter and adjourned to meet again March 20th, and while we wait let this question be asked and answered: "What kind of a club would this club be if all its members were just like me?"

Town Topics

No, them ain't clotheslines over Charley Lux' store, them's radio wireless wires. With this contraption Charley expects to sit in his easy chair and listen in on the grand opera concerts in Chicago, Detroit, Cleveland or wherever he wishes. He gets the idea from having a Farmer's line phone. He is going to have a horn connected on to the outfit so the whole gang can hear. Baseball scores, stock market reports 'n everything can be heard in Chas. Beckoff's if he gets the outfit in working order.

The Smell case at Waukegan has been postponed again. It reminds one of Bill Bryan, always starting, but never getting anywhere. The first couple of months the judge hasn't time to try him, and now the Governor hasn't time to be tried. Just like playing tag isn't it? And if they wait much longer they'll forget what he is on trial for.

Dear Ed—I just happened in the Village hall Tuesday evening and heard a few knocks and booms of the Local Board. Will you print in your Town Topics some of the remarks and incidents?

"Officer Felter, what have you to say," comes from the chair. "Well, them kids have got to stop making bonfires over by the milk factory, and I got three small witnesses who will prove that I am right. Step forward, witnesses." "And sure enough three witnesses stepped forward and testified. But the kids are still making bonfires, the constable sleeps well and the witnesses should worry, as I guess everything is O. K."

"Mr. Powles, what have you to say," was the next on the docket. "Well, there is water and has been water in front of my place all winter long."

Why does not Mr. Powles call on the A. V. Smith sponge squad, they are soaking up all the moisture in this vicinity?

Just then one of our stately villagers presented a bill, of some years of age, against the village. When asked why he didn't turn it in sooner, he said he thought the village "broke" and that it would be useless.

If you want some more on this meeting, I'll write it if you will print it in your paper. Yours truly, I. B. L.

Go to it Mr. I. B. L., I'm sorry you didn't write up the whole meeting. Hope to hear from you next week.

—Mr. Ed.

State Marshal to Investigate the Crooked Lake Fires

State Fire Marshal Paul E. Bertman this week conferred with Sheriff Elmer Green concerning an investigation into the cause of fires at Crooked Lake, where two summer cottages were mysteriously burned recently, resulting in several thousand dollars damage. The cottages belonged to wealthy Chicago residents.

It is understood the fire marshal will attempt to determine whether the fires were of incendiary origin.

The matter has not been brought to the attention of State's Attorney At. V. Smith.

Farm Bureau to "Harmony" in Milk Situation

Acceptance of the invitation of the American Farm Bureau Federation to a "harmony" conference was announced by the Milk Producers' Co-Operative Marketing company.

The executive board, which received the official invitation announced their unanimous approval of its acceptance. "Our three men to meet with the three from the farm bureau of the three states and the three from the Milk Producers' association have not been selected but will be in a few days," said Thomas Keene, secretary.

Whether or not the conference will be held is still an uncertainty. The Milk Producers' association flatly refused to take part in "any meeting with representatives of the marketing company." They explained that previous meetings had been failures but indicated their willingness to discuss harmony plans with the farm bureau federation.

The harmony confab is asked by the farm bureaus in order that the district may be brought from present conditions where the price of milk is the lowest in years, due to a split of farmers who have been lining up in the two organizations, both of which plan to market and to fix the price of milk.

Lenten Services at St. Ignatius' Church Tonight

This evening, March 9th, there will be Evening prayer and address at St. Ignatius' church by the Rev. E. J. Randall, secretary of the Diocese of Chicago. This is Father Randall's first visit to Antioch in his official capacity. He comes in order to inspect the mission and will make a report to the Bishop of what he finds. All the congregation is most urgently requested to be present and hear Father Randall speak.

On Friday morning there will be a celebration of the Holy Communion at 7:30 by Father Randall.

On Thursday evening after the service there will be a meeting of the Finance committee, which has been called for by Father Randall.

On Saturday afternoon at 4:30 the Lenten service for the children will take place and will be followed by choir practice. If your children were not coming, be sure to send them. Every child receives a stamp to place in his stamp album every Saturday that he is present. At the end of Lent, those having a complete album will be given some further reward.

On Sunday Church school at 9:45 and Morning prayer and address at 11:00.

Remember the Lenten rule to pray, fast and give. Come to the services regularly yourself during Lent and trying to bring some one else nearer to the Kingdom of God.

George Richardson, 75, of Round Lake, pioneer resident of Lake county for 71 years, died last week at the Lake County general hospital, following an illness of two and a half months which caused his retirement from business last December.

He is survived by two children, the son George and daughter Mrs. Eliza Anna Davis, of Fremont, and four brothers and three sisters as follows: Mrs. Rose Dunnill, Volo; Mrs. Jaine Vaacy, Round Lake; Mrs. Mary Ann Dowell, Robert and Will, of Grayslake; Daniel, of Volo, and George, of St. Paul.

The Junior class at the high school will present "Clarence," a comedy-drama, tomorrow evening at the high school auditorium. The feminine side of the household falls in love with him, while the masculine side—Come to the high school tomorrow night and see how his employer and his employer's wife found happiness.

The Junior class has been working hard to put this over big. Miss Clevenger is coaching the cast and promises a good entertainment.

The cast includes Lydia Wahlfahr, Edwin Rentner, Antonietta Smart, Elynore Dodge, Irving Elms, Gug Bezy, Mabel VanDusen, Ruth Kettlehut, Howard Spafford and Wesley Wertz.

CANDIDATES GET AWAY IN PRIMARY CONTEST

The Lake county primary marathon is under way. An unusually small group of candidates got away to a flying start last week. The primary election date—the 1 of the race in reality—is April 11.

While the significant feature of the coming election will be the lack of competition for two offices, the absence of any serious breach in the republican ranks, the race will grow red hot for several offices before the day rolls around to go to the polls.

The democrats have conceded county control to the G. O. P. and apparently did not figure it worth while to groom a ticket for the race. Not a democrat has filed for office, which means of course, that the winners at the primary will be the eventual winners.

A review of the list today reveals the following lineup:

County Judge—P. L. Persons for reelection.

Probate Judge, a new office—Charles B. Jack, Waukegan; Martin Decker, North Chicago, and James G. Welch, Waukegan.

County Clerk—Lew Hendee for reelection.

Probate Clerk, a new office—John Bullock, Waukegan.

County Treasurer—Ira E. Pearson, Waukegan; William J. Obee, Highland Park.

Sheriff—Ed. Ahlstrom, Waukegan, and Elvin Griffin, Waukegan.

County Superintendent of Schools—Alice E. Smith, Lake Villa, and T. A. Simpson, Waukegan.

Lake County Jail Is Overcrowded—Use Corridors

Sheriff Elmer J. Green is in a quandary. There are forty-six prisoners in the county jail at the present time, filling the institution to capacity. He does not know what he will do if called upon to care for more prisoners.

All the regular cells and bunks were filled some time ago. As more prisoners were received it was necessary to place additional army cots in the bull pen. This soon was filled and even the corridor around the bull pen used for exercise for the prisoners now is filled with cots nightly. These cots are folded up during the day time—otherwise there would be no room to move around.

The condition became worse Monday when the Waukegan police sent six prisoners, five men and a woman to the county jail. These prisoners should have been removed there several days ago but could not be admitted because of the recent smallpox quarantine and the crowded conditions. Most of the prisoners were charged with booze violations, although one is charged with forgery. The police have four or five more prisoners whom they expect to remove to the county jail this week. Where they will be placed is not known.

Mrs. D. A. Williams was visiting friends at Grayslake Friday.

Bran is selling at $18.25 out of the car.

Mrs. Maud Brogan of Kenosha spent Sunday with her parents.

Surprise Party

At the home of Mr. Lewis was given a genuine surprise party on the evening of March 5th. Mrs. Lewis received in a very unique way. As she saw the joke, she said: "Come right in, everybody, I am so glad to see you. I think you are just as mean as can be." Music was furnished by some of the most notable orchestras and prominent singers in the world—the phonograph. The hostess suggested cinch, which was joyfully accepted. There were five tables and ten games played, after which the guests presented Mrs. Lewis with five pieces of service china. An elaborate luncheon was served, it being the very best that could be produced.

Everybody reported it the jolliest event of the season. These present were Mr. and Mrs. George Webb, L. B. Grice, J. J. Morley, Charles Thorn, Frank Mathews, W. T. Hill, E. L. Simons, W. Smart, Mrs. Carrie Hook and Mrs. Summer of Evanston and Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Beswick.

A Pleasant Surprise

On last Friday evening, at the home of A. G. Watson, occurred a very pleasant surprise party in honor of Mr. Elmer Gollidge. The secret was also quickly kept from Miss Lillie. The evening was very pleasantly spent in cards and singing.

REDUCE CEMENT COST FROM $1.55 TO $1.30

Immediate delivery of 600,000 barrels of cement for the construction of hard roads in Illinois this year is called for in a contract let by the state highway commission. This represents about one-seventh of the cement which will be needed in Illinois if the present program of construction for the year is carried out.

The contract was let after highway officials of five states had met in the Kimball building and given their official approval of the bid of $1.30 a barrel made by the Marquette Cement Co. of La Salle, Ill.

Bids of all other companies, most of which ranged from 10 to 20 cents higher, were rejected. It was announced, however, that there will be further negotiations later.

Highway officials from Indiana, Michigan, Ohio and Wisconsin attended the meeting. In addition to reiterating their decision not to accept bids for cement unless the price was $1.30 a barrel or lower, they discussed prices of all other road materials. It was the consensus that united effort should be made to insure prices for all materials that would be fair under present economic conditions. It was decided to hold frequent conferences of highway officials.

Following the meeting Indiana and Wisconsin officials announced they also had accepted bids of $1.30 a barrel made by the Marquette Cement company.

Drop from $1.55 a Barrel

Last January when bids were first asked every bidding company sent in the same quotation of $1.55 a barrel at the plant. These were rejected. Later bids quoting lower figures were received. Finally, on February 28, the Marquette company made its final bid.

Another Argument in Favor of Buying in the Community

Money sent out of town for merchandise that should be purchased at home does not come back, and we and the town suffer for the thoughtless act of those who fatten the city merchants at the expense of our commonwealth. If the trade of our community was kept at home our town would be more prosperous. The money we have earned would be in circulation, and would, in the course of business, come back to us perhaps several times in the course of a year; but that sent out of town does not come back. It is gone forever.

GOV. SMALL CASE AGAIN POSTPONED

Plea of Governor to Urgent Need of Attention on Road Program Is Accepted

CASE IS SET FOR APRIL 3

The trial of Governor Small was postponed to April 3 by Judge Claire C. Edwards on Monday.

This action was taken after counsel for the governor had submitted affidavits under oath that unless a postponement was taken at this time, it would seriously interfere with the elaborate hard roads building program that now is up to the governor for immediate direction.

Before affidavits were presented Vernon C. Curtis, jointly indicted with the governor, was arraigned and through his counsel, Mr. Leforgee, pleaded not guilty.

The governor had asked for a sixty-day delay. State's Attorney Mortimer and his aids vigorously resisted the motion at first, but finally agreed to a compromise on March 27. Counsel for the governor said the earliest possible moment the spring work in connection with the letting of hard roads contracts could be gotten out of the way would be April 10, but that to insure the complete launching of the plan sixty days would be preferable.

No More Delays

Judge Edwards finally decided to do the compromising on the date himself, and set the trial down for the third of next month, with the statement that there would be no further delays of any kind to accommodate anyone except some unforeseen delay that was possible on account of statutory provisions.

Judge Impressed

Judge Edwards was prepared to proceed with the case today, but after hearing the affidavits of Governor Small and Colonel C. R. Miller, head of the public works department of the state department, in which figures and data were set forth to show how important it was that the state's business just at this time of the year demanded the entire time of the chief executive, the court said he was impressed with the presentation.

In his affidavit Governor Small set forth that he was able to save 15 cents a barrel on 600,000 barrels of cement for road building by rejecting the bids of December, 1921, and forcing new bids, on which the price was reduced 25 cents a barrel.

Emphasizes Importance

The program this year calls for more than 1,000 miles of hard roads, with the use of approximately 4,000,000 barrels of cement, on which the governor told the court in his affidavit he would be able to save the state $1,000,000,000 if permitted to give his entire time to the matter for the next sixty days.

While the trial at any period of the year, he set forth, would more or less seriously hamper the chief executive in discharging his duties to the people of the state, the next sixty days he considered of the greatest importance in planning, letting contracts, providing for the sale of bonds and getting the road work actually going at full speed, all of which, he averred, it was his purpose personally to supervise and to direct.

The governor also set forth that because of the constant attention he has given to the roads program up to this time he has been able to save the people about $12,000 a mile.

He hoped to save them several million dollars over what would be the cost if he were permitted to go ahead with his work at this time.

T. J. Stahl Retires

From Sheriff Race

With an announcement from T. J. Stahl that he has withdrawn his name as a candidate for the office of sheriff, the race now narrows down to but two candidates—E. J. Griffin, now a deputy sheriff, and Edward Ahlstrom. Fred Grabbe, who at one time was mentioned as a probable candidate, never really entered the race.

TAMADA.

Synopsis.—Latterly on the San Francisco water front, John Rainey, newspaper reporter, is accosted by a giant blind man, who asks Rainey to lead him aboard the sealing schooner Karluk. In the cabin they find Captain Simms and a man named Carlsen. Simms recognizes the blind man, calling him Jim Lund. Lund accuses Simms of abandoning him, blind, on an ice floe, and denounces him. Simms denies the charge, but Lund refuses to be pacified. He declares his intention of accompanying the Karluk on its expedition north, where it is going in quest of a gold field which Lund has discovered. Peggy, Simms' daughter, is aboard, and defends her father. Carlsen, who is a physician as well as first mate, drugs Rainey. Awakening from his stupor, Rainey finds himself, at sea. Carlsen informs him he has a share of the gold, and Rainey is forced to declare himself satisfied. Lund gives him a brief account of a former expedition of the Karluk, a former expedition of the Karluk, and suggests a "partnership." Rainey is made second mate. Captain Simms is ill and the navigation is entirely in the hands of Carlsen. At the latter's suggestion a shooting match is staged and the seal hunters exhaust their ammunition. Carlsen shows his skill with the pistol and Lund does some astonishing shooting "by sound." Sandy, the ship's boy, is swept overboard and is rescued by Rainey, who thus wins Peggy's admiration. The captain gets worse. Sandy tells how Carlsen is stirring up trouble over the division of the gold. Carlsen draws a gun on Rainey, who overpowers him.

CHAPTER V.—Continued.

He talked in a low voice, but it rumbled like the distant roar of a bull. Rainey looked at the indomitable jaw that the beard could not hide, at the great barrel of his chest, the bough-like arms, the swelling thighs and calves, and responded to the suggestion that Lund could rise in Berserker rage and sweep aside all opposition.

"Carlsen says that the skipper's life is in his hands," he said. "What do you make of that?"

"I don't know what to make of it," answered Lund. "If it is, God help the skipper! I reckon he's in a bad way. Ennyhow, he's out of it for the time being," Rainey.

"There's the girl," said Rainey. "I don't believe she wants to marry Carlsen."

"If she does," said Lund, "she ain't the kind we need worry about. If you're interested about the gal, Rainey, an' I take it you are, I'm tellin' you that Carlsen'll marry her if it suits his book. If it don't, he won't. An' if he was out, he'll make her without botherin' about prayer-books an' ceremonies. I know his breed. All men are more or less selfish an' shy on morals, to streaks more or less wild, but that Carlsen's just plain skunk. I'm no saint, but, so long as I can keep wiggle, there ain't enny hunter or seaman goin' to harm a decent gal. That's another way they ain't my equal, Rainey. Savvy? Nor is Carlsen. There ain't enough real manhood in that Carlsen to greass a skittol. How about it, Rainey; are you lined up with me?"

"Just as far as I can go, Lund. I'm with you to the limit."

Lund brought down his hand with a mighty swing and caught at Rainey's in mid-air, gripping it till Rainey bit his lips to repress a cry of pain.

"You've got the guts!" cried the giant, checking the loudness of his voice abruptly. "I knew it. It ain't all goin' to go as they like it. Watch my smoke. Now, then, keep out of Carlsen's way all you can. He may try an' pick a row with you that'll put you in wrong all around. Go easy an' speak easy till Lund's sighted."

"What do you think Carlsen's game is, if it goes through?"

"He's fox enough to thiol up a dozen ways. Run the schooner ashore somewhere in the night. Wreck her. Git 'em in the boats with the gold. Inside of a week, Deming an' one or two others would have won it. Then—he'd have the only gun—he'd shoot the lot of 'em an' say they died at sea. He ain't got enny more warm blood than a squid. Or he might land, and accuse 'em all of piracy. What do we care about his plans? He ain't goin' to put 'em over."

Rainey had to relieve Hansen. He left Lund primed for resistance against Carlsen, against all the crew, if necessary, resolved to save the girl, but as Lund stayed below and the time slid by, his confidence oozed out of him, and the odds assumed their mathematical proportion.

What could they do against so many? But he held firm in his determination to do what he could, to go down with the forlorn hope.

The Karluk was bowling along northward toward landfall and the crisis between Lund and Carlsen at good speed. The weather had subsided and the half gale now served the schooner instead of hindering her. Rainey turned over the wheel to a seaman and paced the deck. Lund's mysterious hints were unsatisfactory. He could not believe them without some basis, but the giant would never go further than vague talk of a "joker" or card up his sleeve. And they would need more than one card, Rainey thought.

He wondered whether they could win over Hansen, who had spoken for Lund against the skipper, and had then kept his counsel. But he dismissed Hansen as an ally. The Scandinavian was too cautious, too apt to consider such things as odds. Sandy was useless, aside from his good-will. He was cowed by Deming, scared of Carlsen, too puny to do more than be had done, give them warning.

Tamada? Would he fight for the share of gold he expected to come to him? Lund had described him as neutral. But, if he knew that he was to be left out of the division? At any rate, Tamada might provide him with a weapon, a sharp-bladed vegetable knife if nothing better. He could not class Tamada as an unimportant factor. There was no question to Rainey, but that Tamada was, by caste, above his position as sealer's cook. It was true that a Japanese considered no means mean if they led to the proper end.

Was that end merely to gain possession of his share of the gold, or did Tamada have some deeper, more complicated reason for aligning on to run the galley of the Karluk? Somehow Rainey thought there was such a reason.

CHAPTER VI.

Tamada Talks.

It was an hour from the third meal of the day. Tamada was juggling the food for three messes, and he was doing it with the calm precision of one who has every detail well mapped out and is moving on schedule. The boy Sandy was not there, probably engaged in laying the table for the bunters' mess, Rainey imagined.

Tamada regarded him with eyes that did not lack a certain luster, as a sloopberry might hold it, but which, beneath their hooded lids, revealed neither interest, nor curiosity, nor friendliness. They belonged in his unwrinkled face, they were altogether neutral. Yet they seemed covertly to suggest to Rainey that they might, on occasion, flame with wrath or hatred, or show the burning light of high intelligence.

"You Are Not Hating Me Because You Are Californian and I Japanese," He said.

"Tamada," he queried, "you think I am your friend, that I would rather help you than otherwise?"

"I think that—yes?" answered the Japanese without hesitation and without servility. "You are not hating me because you are Californian and I Japanese," he said. "I know that."

There was little time to spare, and there was likelihood of interruption, so Rainey plunged into his subject without introduction.

"They promised you a share of this treasure, Tamada?" he asked.

"They promised me that, yes."

"They do not intend to give it to you. You may have guessed this, but I am sure of it. I, too, am promised some of the gold, but they do not intend to give it to me. They will offer Mr. Lund only a small portion of what was originally arranged, the same amount as the rest of them are to get. He will refuse that tomorrow, when a meeting is to be called. Then there will be trouble. I shall stand with Mr. Lund. If we win you will get your share, whether you help us or not. If you help us I can promise you at least twice the amount you were to get."

"How can I help you? If this is to be talked over at a meeting I shall not be allowed to be present. I do not think it will help you for me to join. I do not see how you can win. If you can show some way out I will do what I can. But I like to see way out."

He mollified the bald acknowledgment of his neutrality with a little bow and a blissing-in-breath. Back of it all was a will that was inflexible, thought Rainey.

"If we lose, you lose," he went on lamely. He had come on a fool's errand, he decided.

"I think I shall get my money," said Tamada. The Oriental gave a swift smile, that held no mirth, no friendship, rather, a sardonic appreciation of the situation, without rancor.

"They are very foolish," he said. "They make me cook, they eat what I serve. They say Tamada is very good cook. But he is Jap, d—n him. Suppose I put something in that food, that they would not taste? I could send them all to sleep. I could kill them. I could do it so they never suspect, but would go to their beds—and never get up from them. It would be very easy. Yet they trust me."

The statement was so matter-of-fact that Rainey felt his horror gather slowly as he stared at the impassive Oriental.

A thought suddenly flashed over him. Was Tamada in league with Carlsen? Had he mistaken his man? Did Carlsen plan to have Tamada undertake a wholesale poisoning to secure the gold himself, providing the drugs? Was it a friendly hint from the Japanese?

When Rainey's watch was ended and he was closeted with Lund in the latter's cabin, the giant promptly quashed all discussion of Tamada's attitude.

"I'll put no trust in any slant-eyed, yellow-skinned rice-eater," he announced emphatically. "They're against us, race an' religion. They want Californian, or rather, the Pacific coast, an' they think they're goin' to git it. They're no more akin to us than a snake is a cousta to an eel. They're not o' our breed, an' you can't mix the two. I'll have no deal with Tamada, beyond gettin' dope out of him. If he helped us it'd be only to further his own ends. Not that he can do much—unless—"

He lowered his voice to a husky whisper.

"There's one thing may slip in our gold-gettin' matey," he said—"the Japanese. I doubt if this island is so' dows on American or British charts. But I'll bet it is on the Japanese. They don't know of the gold, or it wouldn't be there. Rightly, the island may belong to Russia, but since the war, Russia's in a bad way, an' ennything loose from the mainland'll be gobbled by Japan."

"What the Japs grab they don't let go of. If they should suspicion us of gittin' gold off any island they'd trump up to call them, if they found gold on us at all, it'd be all off with us an' the Karluk. We'd be dumped inside of some Jap prison an' the schooner confiscated."

"An' if things go right with us, an' we ever sight the smoke of a Jap gun-blast comin' our way, the first thing I'll be apt to do will be to scrag Tamada or he'll blow the whole proposition, whether we've got the gold aboard or not. Even if he didn't want to tell becoz of his own sake, they'd git it out of him what we was after."

"Ever play much at cards?" he went on. "Play for yore last red when you don't know where to turn for another, an' have all the crowd thinkin' you're goin' broke as they watch the play? An' then you slap down a card they've all overlooked an' larf in the other chap's face?"

"That's what I'm goin' to do with Carlsen. I've got that kind of a card, matey, an' I ain't goin' to spoil my fun by tellin' even you what it is, though you're my partner in this gamble. It's a trump, an' Carlsen's overlooked it."

Lund chuckled hugely as he mixed himself some whiskey and water. Rainey refused a drink. He was nervous, brooding over what the outcome might be, and how he might handle himself. He was not at all sure of his own grip. There was a nasty doubt as to his own prowess and his own courage that kept cropping up. And that state of mind is not a pleasant one.

Rainey went over and over the situation as a squirrel might race around the bars of his revolving cylinder, and came to only one conclusion, the inevitable one, to let the matter develop itself. Lund's winning card he had hoisted about until his brain was tired. When he turned in at last, despite his determination to follow Lund's admonition concerning sleep, it would not come to him.

He was awakened at half-past seven, got a cup of coffee after dressing warily, and went on deck. Carlsen and the girl had preceded him. Lund stood at the rail with his head of a nose wrinkled, sniffing toward the icy crags that were spouting a dazle of white flame, set about with smaller, sudden flares of ruby, emerald and sapphire.

Tamada appeared and announced breakfast.

"You'll be coming later, Rainey?" asked Carlsen. "You and Lund?"

He started for the companionway and the girl followed. As she passed the wheel Rainey spoke to her:

"I am sorry your father is so ill, Miss Simms," he said.

She looked at him with eyes that were filled with sadness, that seemed liquid with tears bravely held back.

"I am afraid he is dying," she answered in a low voice. "Thank you for your sympathy."

She stopped at some slight sound that Rainey did not catch. But he saw the face of Carlsen framed in the shadow of the companion, his mouth open in a wolf grin, and the man's eyes were gleaming crimson. He held up a hand for the girl. She passed down without taking it.

Lund came over to Rainey.

"Clear weather, they tell me," he said. "That's unusual. Fog off the Aleutians three hundred an' fifty days of the year, as a rule. Soon as we of the year, which'll be Unalaska or slight land, which'll be Unalaska or the thereabouts, Carlsen will have the course changed. There's a considerable fleet of United States revenue cutters at Unalaska, an' Carlsen won't pull ennything until we're well west of there. He's pretty cocky this mornin'." Wal, we'll see."

There had always been a certain rollicking good-humor about Lund. This morning he was grim, his face, with its beak of a nose and aggressive chin beneath the flaming whiskers, and his whole magnificent body gave the impression of resolve and repressed action. Rainey fancied whimsically that he could hear a dynamo purring inside the giant's massiveness. He had seen him in open rage when he had first denounced Honest Simms, but the serious mood was far more impressive.

The big man stepped like a great cat, his head was thrust slightly forward, his great hands were half open. One forgot his blindness. Despite the unsightly black lenses, Lund appeared so absolutely prepared and, in a different way, fully as confident as Carlsen. A certain audacious assurance seemed to ooze out of him, to permeate his neighborhood, and a measure of it extended to Rainey.

Carlsen, before he went below, had sent a man into the fore-spreaders, and now he shouted, cupping his hands and sounding his news as if it had been a call to arms:

"Land—ho!"

"What is it?" called Rainey back.

"Eligh peak, sir. Dead ahead! Clouds on it, or smoke."

He came sliding down the halyards to the deck as Lund said: "That'll be Makusha. Now the fun'll commence."

From below the sailors' off watch came up on deck, and the hunters, the latter wiping their mouths, fresh from their interrupted breakfast, all crowding forward to get a glimpse of the land. Minutes passed before Carlsen came on deck. He had not hurried his meal.

"I'll take her over, Rainey," he said briefly.

Rainey and Lund were barely seated before the heeling of the schooner and the sculls of feet told of Lund's prophesied change of course. Rainey looked at the telltale compass above his head.

"Heading due west," he told Lund. "West it is," said the giant. "More coffee, Tamada. Fill your belly, Rainey. Oat'n good meal while the eatin' is good."

Although it was Hansen's watch below, Rainey found him at the wheel instead of the seaman he had left there. Carlsen came up to him smiling.

"Better let Hansen have the deck, Mr. Rainey," he said. "We're going to have a conference in the cabin at four bells, and I'd like you to be present."

You Never Can Tell, Sir. Western Paper—"Miss Alice Somerby and William B. Wave, both of this town, were married Tuesday. Alice gets a permanent wave," comments J. Q.—Boston Transcript.

Never one restless night—
never one sick day!

CAN you say this of your baby? Or are you constantly worried, up half of the night, because his food is not agreeing with him?

Little Jackson Allan is a fine sturdy boy. Every child should be like him, for "he never has had a sick day" in spite of "the intense heat" of last summer. Mrs. Beard chose the famous Eagle Brand for her baby's food. His condition today justifies her choice, for he has progressed steadily ever since.

But more than that, Jackson now has a baby sister. She had a poor start. At five months she was undernourished and had rickets. Mrs. Beard promptly put her on Eagle Brand. Two months later she had gained five pounds! "and is growing and getting along fine."

Don't experiment with your baby. Eagle Brand is the standard infant food. Generations of babies have been reared on it. Mrs. Beard is but one of the thousands of mothers who have written us concerning the wonderful benefits of Eagle Brand. And thousands of doctors have recommended it—for it is easily digested.

Eagle Brand is not a "prepared food". It is just milk—good pure milk combined with cane sugar—the natural food when mother's milk fails. You can buy Eagle Brand anywhere. It keeps indefinitely, so you can order a supply and have it always at hand. It is absolutely pure and uniform.

Do you want a beautiful little record book in which to keep your baby's record? You know how much you'll value it in the years to come. Just cut out the coupon and send it to us. We will mail "The Best Baby" and Eagle Brand feeding chart FREE.

Mistaken Identity.
Helen was a freshman at Shortridge High school and was proud of her new ring bearing the school insignia.

The waiter at the restaurant where she went said something that to Helen sounded like "Shortridge" to which she promptly replied, gazing at her ring, which she supposed he had noticed: "Yes, are you from there, too?"

The waiter looked bored, and then repeated his request: "Short ribs or roast beef?"—Indianapolis News.

THE ECONOMY BAKING POWDER CALUMET

Calumet possesses the farthest-reaching baking powder economy. It is the most economical leavening agent. It saves in more ways—and makes more important savings than most other baking powders.

You save when you buy it. The price is moderate—it leaves you money over the cost of high-priced brands for purchase of other articles. Costs but little more than cheap powders—far more valuable in quality.

You save when you use it. Possesses more than the ordinary raising force—you use only half as much as is ordinarily required.

You save materials it is used with. Calumet never fails with any kind of recipe or with any kind of flour—always produces perfectly raised, delicious bakings.

You'll notice a great difference when you use Calumet. Calumet produces light, sweet, wholesome, flaky bakings. You will notice with some of the cheaper brands the bakings are soggy, heavy, dark in color, and sometimes have a bitter taste.

Used by leading chefs and domestic scientists, and by more housewives than any other brand. Made in the world's largest and finest baking powder plants.

Best by test. A trial proves it.

Town Team Loses Two Close Games

Antioch town team lost two very interesting and exciting games Friday evening at the high school gymnasium. Each game was lost by a margin of one point. In the first game Rosecrans defeated Antioch's second team by a 13 to 12 score. This battle was a nip and tuck affair throughout, Antioch leading at the end of the first half 8 to 7. Each made four points in the third period, and Rosecrans made one basket in the last quarter while holding Antioch scoreless. The line-up:

Rosecrans	Antioch
Edwards	F. James
Leahle	F. R. Fields
Knox	C. Barthell
C. Edwards	G. Fallbacher
Ames	G. Ames
Baskets	B. Fields 4, Westernfield
Chinn, Leahle 2, Knox 3, C. Edwards
Free throw—Leahle.

The second game of the evening went to Libertyville by a 26 to 25 margin. The game was a rough affair throughout. Libertyville led at half time by a 16 to 9 margin and in the last half found Antioch leading by one point, 25 to 24, but with about one minute to play, Libertyville made a ringer from midfield and jumped into the lead. With but a few seconds to go Antioch had a chance to tie the score when a personal foul was called on Boyd, the lengthy Libertyville guard, but Antioch missed this goal and the game was lost, for time was called before play was well under way. A fairly good crowd witnessed the games. The lineup:

Libertyville	Antioch
Kitchin	F. B. Fields
Englehart	F. Westernfield
Young	F. Chinn
Boyd	G. Smith
Rittner	G. Voss

Baskets—James 8, R. Fields, Barthell, Fallbacher, Kitchin 3, Englehart 2, Young 6, Rittner. Free throws—James, Rittner 2.

In another close game Antioch lost to Area in a 19 to 20 score Tuesday night at Area. B. Fields, Nahor, Fallbacher and Barthell secured the points. The game was close at all times Antioch leading at the end of the third period 16-12.

COLOR OF GIANTS' UNIFORMS

Will Not Bear Title "World Champions" Across Breat-Honic Suits Will Be White.

The New York Giants will not sport the title World Champions across their chest next summer. McGraw originated the idea years ago and it didn't make much of a bit with fandom or players. Consequently it went into the discard.

The Cleveland club dug up the idea after beating Brooklyn, and so lettered the uniforms of the Indians. The idea got the Cleveland players in many a "razing" last summer, in games in which they were being badly beaten. However, the fans will know the Giants are in the park when they trot on the field. The World Champions title will be missing, but the uniforms will be a riot of color.

The home suits will be white with a violet stripe and the initials "N. Y." on the sleeve. The stocking will be red, white and blue and the cap white with a blue peak.

The road uniform will be gray and the word "Giants" across the shirt fronts. Some rather fancy trimmings will live up the sember gray.

SCULLER JACK KELLY OF VESPER CLUB WILL ROW AGAINST HOOVER

Jack Kelly of Vesper, B. C., the world's champion single sculler, who was given a solid gold cup trophy by fellow members of the Philadelphia boat club, will defend the cup against Walter Hoover of Duluth, B. C., who is the American champion. The race may be part of the National championship regatta should Philadelphia win the classic next summer.

EXPECT NO CHANGES IN TROTTERING RULES

Joint Committee Failed to Reach Any Conclusion.

Had Harness Horse Association Been Allowed a Voice, Several Improvements Would Have Been Made in Regulations.

Because of the failure of the joint committee, composed of representatives from the American and National Trotting associations, to function, the rules that have governed at all harness race meetings will remain unchanged this year.

The practice of having a joint body to make uniform rules for both bodies has governed in recent years.

This year the appointment of the representatives was made in the familiar form again, but because of the fact that representatives from the Harness Horse association, the body of campaigning horsemen, were on hand to join in the conference, the national committee refused to take part. They were agreeable to the presence of the H. H. A. committee in an advisory way, but didn't believe that the H. H. A., an organization looking in administrative or legislative powers for racing, should have a vote upon the rules.

Because of this lack of agreement it is probable that several changes of the present rules were avoided. At least there were a number of changes advised by both the H. H. A. and the American association, and it is more than probable that had the representatives of the H. H. A. been allowed a voice in the joint committee meeting the suggested changes would have gone through.

One proposed change was the elimination of win-race records taken prior to the week of July 4, in so far as eligibility was concerned. This proposal was heralded by many horsemen as being the necessary encouragement for early season racing. It was urged that horsemen did not try to win in many early season instances because of the danger of taking a record and getting out of late engagements. Also, it was claimed, that with this change many horses in previous years not starting at all before July would be raced, inasmuch as there would be no penalty in the way of a win-race record in the event of winning.

Open Confession. "Now tell me," said the lady, looking at various price cards, "what is your best butter?" "Margarine, madam," said the honest assistant.

Hinsdale Wins From Antioch '5' at Tournament

Antioch high school team lost to Hinsdale high school team of Chicago at the suburban basket ball tournament held at Oak Park Thursday of last week by a 30 to 17 score. The local lads did not play the game they are capable of playing, due to the strange floor, which is almost square. Hinsdale had a very good record in their games this season and proved to be one of the best teams entered. Oak Park, who were touted as the best team in the league, after defeating New Trier twice in the high school league this year, were headed an overwhelming defeat at the hands of the latter team. New Trier won the right to enter the state championship to represent this section, to be held the latter part of next week.

Alice Lake Film Thrills Audience

An eye for an eye; a tooth for a tooth—the old Mosaic code of ethics was called into play yesterday in the Wesley Ruggles production "Over the Wire," in which Alice Lake stars, and thrilled the full-house audience which witnessed the first performance of this Metro picture at the Crystal theatre, Saturday, March 11.

But more—as they followed with hated breath the dramatic movements of the picture the audience was treated to as unexpected a climax as was ever unfolded. For the action moved relentlessly towards the gaining of vengeance by a young woman whose brother's death had been brought about by a financier; vengeance was almost consummated when suddenly, a flower of love sprung up from the bog of hate. It was a masterly situation, but then the creator of it was Arthur Somers Roche, the fictionist whose work in the magazines and between book covers ranks him among the best short-story writers of the country.

As Kathleen Dexter, Alice Lake, gave a performance of surprising skill and beauty. Her acting has finish and spontaneity, it sparkles brilliantly like diamond facets, leaving nothing to be desired. Miss Lake's supporting cast included Albert Roscoe, George Stewart and Alan Hale.

Edward Lowe, Jr., wrote the scenario. Allan Siegler photographed the picture, and J. J. Hughes designed and executed the art settings. It is an unusual picture, well worth seeing.

BRIEFS OF VARIOUS NEWS

Wednesday, March 1, J. R. Alleman retired as postmaster of the Libertyville office, being succeeded by E. E. Ellsworth, who was the successful candidate in a field of six for the position under Harding administration. The personnel of the office will remain the same as under Mr. Alleman, with genial "Bud" Kimball as assistant postmaster, and Miss Ada Nicholls will remain as chief clerk.

"Grandma" Deliah King, oldest resident of Lake county and perhaps of the state, is dead at her home in Zion at the age of 104 years. Mrs. King celebrated her 104th birthday on January 23. Her death took place this morning at 1 o'clock at the Bethel, 29th and Elizabeth streets, Zion, where she made her home.

The first of a three-day session of the Lake county teachers' institute was held last week at Gorton school, Lake Forest, there being a record of 40 and all the schools of the county were closed Thursday and Friday to enable the teachers to attend, this being the most successful institute ever held in this county.

Unless the Illinois statutes are changed at the constitutional convention no women jurors will be called for service in Lake county, as opinion received by Lew A. Hendee, county clerk, from Attorney General Brundage, given some time ago, states that the women are not eligible to jury service in this county. Accordingly Clerk Hendee has instructed supervisors in the various townships to draw men only for jury service in Lake county.

Dr. A. E. Brown, superintendent of the Lake County hospital for the last ten or twelve years, is to tender his resignation at the June meeting of the Lake county board of supervisors, according to a persistent and apparently well founded rumor that has been current for several days. In fact the county superintendent is said to have confided this fact to a few of his intimate friends.

Petitions of candidacy were filed last week by James G. Welch and Martin Decker, of North Chicago for the office of probate judge. They bring the number for the office to three, Charles Jack filing his petition some time ago.

Newman's, Waukegan's newest store carrying apparel for women and misses, located at 223 North Genesee street was visited by hundreds of Waukegan people and from the neighboring cities. A beautiful souvenir was given to every woman entering the store.

The supreme court today handed down an opinion sustaining the demurrer to the pleas in the appeal case of Lake county, R. W. Brecher, county treasurer, Lew A. Hendee, county clerk, and various taxing bodies, in the case which Frank P. Hawkins in the circuit court here secured an order restraining the payment of taxes in excess of $7.50 on each four one-hundredths of assessed valuation for the year 1920 of all taxable property in Highland Park and more than 70 per cent of all taxes extended on the assessors books for 1920 against all real estate and improvements thereon. This means that the supreme court has sustained the ruling of the local court, which rule that the tax levy did not specify the various purposes and amounts for which the levy was made and is illegal and void to the amount of 4-100 per cent per assessed valuation, and that the raise of 30 per cent made by the board of review is illegal.

The taxing bodies affected are the North Shore Sanitary district, Deerfield township, Deerfield-Shields high school district, school districts No. 8 Highland Park, East Park district and the city of Highland Park.

GOOD TIME TO PLAN GARDEN

During the Long Evenings Consider These Hints Put Out by the Department of Agriculture.

Some plants do better under certain conditions than do others. Where special conditions obtain, it is well to study the requirements of the flowers while plans are being made to plant them, and see if the location in question is a suitable habitat for them. The following list has been compiled by horticulturists in the United States Department of Agriculture.

Of easiest culture under ordinary garden conditions: Over four feet, sunflower; about three feet, Joseph's coat, love-lies-bleeding, heliopsis and prince's-feather; about thirty inches, cornflower, strawberry, and zinnia; about twenty-four inches, calliopsis, summer chrysanthemum, coneflower, gaillardia, marigold, poppy and snow-on-the-mountains; about eighteen inches, nigella; about twelve inches, Cape marigold, calendula, California poppy, balsam, candy-tuft,

Ideal Garden Spot.

petunia, Drummond phlox, pink, dwarf nasturtium, portulaca and sweet alyssum.

On light fertile soil: Gaillardia, marigold, Drummond phlox and portulaca.

On light soil, not too rich: Cockscomb and feather cockscomb.

On poor soil: Love-lies-bleeding, prince's-feather, Joseph's coat, Cape marigold, goetta, dwarf nasturtium, portulaca, Scotch plink, sweet alyssum, garden balsam and calliopsis.

On lands near the seacoast: Plants from the three foregoing lists, depending on the fertility of the soil, together with the castor bean, sunflower, heliopsis, spiderflower, cornflower, strawflower, zinnia, calliopsis, snow-on-the-mountains, four-o'clock, stock, calendula, California poppy, petunia and sweet alyssum.

In partial shade: Basketflower, sweet sultan, clarkia, platycodon, goetta, Drummond phlox, pansy, sweet alyssum, lupine and forget-me-not.

Especially responding to rich soil: Castor bean, scarlet sage, balsam and China aster.

Birds Are Friends of All.
The flowering dogwood, mulberry, wild-black cherry, bayberry, American elder and hickory blueberry can be counted on in general to attract the bluebird, cardinal, flicker, kingbird, Baltimore oriole, robin and cedar wax-wings.

The home owner interested in observing birds himself, or affording an opportunity for his children, the farmer who desires to protect his fruit crops and the person who wishes to assist in the conservation of our city and our forest trees, as well as our native birds, can perform a great public service by planning his planting with the birds in mind.—Exchange.

Reconstruction Problems.
Progressive and growing cities are always called on to face and deal with the problem of reconstruction. The problem is presented in connection with the elevation of railroad tracks, acquiring park lands, laying out boulevards, placing monuments and memorials, straightening and widening streets, etc. The question is always one of handling these matters in a large way and solely with reference to the welfare of the city and its people as a whole, and with an eye to the future.

The Real Booster.

High School Happenings

Friday evening of this week at eight o'clock, the Juniors with the aid of their director, Miss Clevenger will present the play "Clarence." This play was very popular in Chicago and New York two years ago and our Juniors are hoping to show why. The play itself is well worth seeing and the cast has been very well chosen. In connection with the play, the Junior girls not in the cast will hold a candy sale. The candy will be of a superior brand—none like it even in Chicago and New York.

Helen Gray was absent Tuesday.

Marjorie Walsh is back to school again after her scarlet fever vacation.

The Design class is learning what combinations of material can be used in making a dress and also how to remodel dresses.

Miss Susan Tiffany substituted for Miss Tiffany, who was ill Tuesday.

Lydia Wohlfahrt spent Monday night with Mabel Van Deusen.

Roy Kennedy was absent Monday on account of sickness.

We are very sorry the boys were defeated by Hinsdale at the tournament. They played their best but Hinsdale was better. Yeah! Rabi Antioch first team rah!

The Juniors, who have been busy the last three weeks, are particularly busy this week practicing for their play which will be very good.

The members of the Debating class had a vacation Monday on account of play practice.

Did everyone enjoy his vacation Thursday and Friday? You bet we did. Nine rahs for the teachers.

The people who are studying music beside their school work are: Hilda Wolf, Mable Van Deusen, Helen Gray, Anna Kret, Emilie Ferbrick, Margaret Jack, Dorothy Hawkins, Edith Edgar, Mildred Hulick, Marguerite Grier, Cornelia Roberts, Elvira and Beatrice Oetting, Marion Spanggard, Letha La Plant and Helen Cribb.

Telephone Company Give Figures on Printing Book

Some startling statistics which reveal the development and widespread use of the telephone, have been compiled by a Chicago printing house, which print telephone directories for many cities.

This printing establishment, announces that in 1920 it printed 6,669,000 telephone directories, using 18,350,420 pounds of paper, which required 459 freight cars to transport it from the mills.

These directories if placed end to end would reach from Chicago to Jacksonville, Fla., and the paper stock if made into a strip 1 foot wide would reach from the earth to the moon and more than half way back.

To set the type contained in the listings of these directories would occupy one man's time at a linotype machine for nearly forty years and if the directories were printed on an ordinary cylinder press, running eight hours per day, it would require seventy-five years to complete the run.

A business man gave as his reason for not advertising that he preferred to go out and interview the farmers personally as to their needs in his line. That may work very well for one or two, but suppose we'd all try to do that. The farmer would not have time to work at all and he'd soon get so sick of seeing cars drive up to his place that he would either hold them off with a shotgun or leave this country.

The up-to-date and only satisfactory way to present your case to the public is through the printed page. Then the prospective customer can get just what you have to say just at the moment he is most willing to listen to it. There is no gas or "hot air" wasted and nobody sore.

James Stearns spent Thursday in Chicago.

Thieves broke into the Antioch Packing Co. Friday evening and made away with a quantity of meat.

Charles Blunt, who has been spending the winter with his daughter in Detroit, returned to Antioch last week.

There will be a basket social and program given by the Lake Villa school at Barnstable Hall on Tuesday, March 14, at 8 p. m.

A post card from Los Angeles, Cal., was received this week from Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Clingman of Channel Lake. The photo shows beautiful palms and boulevards, nice lawns and lakes. But the Clingmans know where to spend the summer.

From coast to coast Tanlac is known and honored and millions have taken it and pronounced it the greatest medicine of all times. S. H. Reeves.

New Spring Styles

are now here for your approval

From all indications we are led to believe that Patent and Tan leathers will lead all others in styles for Spring and early Summer. Consequently we have selected and have now in stock such styles in these leathers that will please the most fastidious.

It is a satisfaction to know that you are fitted properly. A single pair of shoes that are too long or short, too wide or narrow will cripple your feet and cause many days of discomfort. It is surprising to know the large number of people we come in contact with that are suffering from foot trouble caused entirely by mistfitted shoes.

You would not think of wearing eyeglasses without having them fitted by an expert. Then why show less consideration for your feet, that carries the weight of your body from twelve to fourteen hours every day.

These are facts that should be considered seriously.

SUNDAY SERVICES:

Forty-three tithers enrolled so far in Antioch church. This includes several members who have been tithing previously. The tithe campaign of the Methodist Episcopal church is going with swifter strides throughout the world. Returns were not yet cast up to know the totals, but it is certain that thousands upon thousands signed the tithe enrollment cards last Sunday, in every part of the world. The campaign will not be completed, however, until the objective is reached, which is the whole Methodist Episcopal church of four and a half million members actually tithing and their names enrolled at the central office. Great as are the achievements already, they are to be counted only a beginning. The day is upon us when the millions of Christ's people in all the churches will follow the law of God and put away, for religion only, one tenth of every item of income when it comes in, and hold that tithe money as "holy unto the Lord," never touching it for anything but religion.

Away in India, thousands upon thousands of members of the church pay their tithes faithfully every week to the church. And these people nearly all work for an average of about six cents a day. Would it not sound funny to hear anybody in America say he was too poor to tithe?

Some new faces were evident in Sunday school last Sunday. The general trend throughout the country is probably striking Antioch. There are now millions of people—grown people, especially men—now in the Sunday Schools of America who a few years ago never went to Sunday School at all.

Doctor Jesse's lecture last Friday night was a great treat and there was universal enthusiasm over it.

The Start of Divorce.

The most primitive people held that a husband could repudiate his wife at will. This was gradually modified, till separations could be obtained for cause. The hearing of cases came to be a function of the courts, and laws grew and adapted themselves till a special code of divorce laws was framed, with a special court to handle the cases. The first real divorce court was established in England by act of parliament in 1857.

Seed Oats

Due to the unfavorable season last year the oat crop was light and the seed itself of poor quality and light in weight.

A large per cent of the oats are unfit for seed unless they are put through the fanning mill several times and the light chaffy seeds blown out.

It will be better in many cases to feed the home grown oats and buy seed of better quality. There is not a great difference in price between feeding oats and seed oats and the chances are much in favor of a better yield from good plump seed.

Treating for Smut

Smut frequently shows in a crop from seed that was supposed to be free from smut disease.

The expense of treating for smut is very small and is the best kind of insurance for a good crop.

The agronomy department of the university recommends the following treatment:

"The dry sprinkle treatment of oats for smut has again shown itself to be the best. This is the formaldehyde treatment which was first recommended by the Illinois agricultural experiment station in the spring of 1920. It consists of diluting one pint of commercial formaldehyde in 10 gallons of water and sprinkling this diluted solution over the oats at the rate of one pint to each bushel of grain. After sprinkling on this material the oats are thoroughly and quickly mixed until every grain is slightly moist. They are then covered with a blanket or tarpaulin for two hours. At the end of the period they may be seeded immediately or if the seeding is not to be done at once, they should be spread out to allow the formaldehyde gas to escape.

"This method of treating oats has completely controlled the smut during the six years it has been used, with the exception of a slight trace in two different seasons. The yield in bushels has been the greatest of any treatment.

Intestinal worms cause a good many runty pigs that are supposed to be off feed or suffering from the effects of vaccination. A stunted pig will not make a profitable hog.

These backward pigs can be treated for about 10 cents apiece and have a fair chance to develop along with the thrifty ones.

Give each pig, weighing around one hundred pounds, a dose as follows: two grams each of antonin, calomel, aloin and sodium bicarbonate. This treatment has a reputation for getting the worms.

Your druggist can put this in capsule form which may be forcibly given to the pigs placing them on the rear of the tongue and rinsing down with water.

The dose can be mixed with a small amount of moistened shorts and the pigs allowed to swallow the dose along with the shorts. Treat only a few pigs at a time or better still, only one so that all the pigs will get the same amount.

Pigs should have no food for 18 to 24 hours before treating. By that time they are hungry enough to take their medicine and the dose is more effective.

Farm Bureaus Meet on Milk Situation
 E. B. Heaton, director of dairy marketing of the American Farm Bureau Federation has called a meeting of all the Farm Bureaus in the milk district to consider ways in which Farm Bureaus and the larger farm organizations can help in the solution of our milk marketing difficulties.

It is a complicated problem on account of the large area involved and the fact that a satisfactory solution in one section is not satisfactory in another, in fact any plan will probably work hardship to some sections of the milk district.

The purpose of the meeting is to try to get some idea of a workable plan as a basis for beginning.

It is not the purpose of the Farm Bureau Federation to try to do this independently but to co-operate as far as possible with the present organizations for that purpose.

Several representatives from this county will attend the meeting. The American Farm Bureau Federation do not expect a speedy solution of our milk marketing difficulties. There is too much difference of opinion as to how it should be done, and a re-adjustment on any basis will take time.

Any plan to be successful must have the co-operation of a large majority of the milk producers. It means that we are going to have to accept some details that are not just as we would like to have them. Let us be willing to meet the ideas of other people and the wishes of other sections of the milk district half way so that some policy can be adopted which will receive general support.

Mothers in a Like Situation Should Read This Letter from Mrs. Enrico

Chicago, Illinois.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for a serious trouble. I had tried doctors and all said the same—an operation. At first I only felt the pain on my left side, but later I seemed to feel it on both sides. I am a power sewing-machine operator and have a little girl to support. I work in a tailor shop and that kind of work has been very slack this year and I am home part of the time. I do not like to take any chances, so I consulted my friends, and one lady said, 'Take Lydia Pinkham's medicine,' so I did. I have felt better right along and am in good enough health to go to work. I recommend your Vegetable Compound and 'Sawyer's' to all."—Mrs. MARY ENRICO, 459 N. Carpenter St., Chicago, Illinois.

Often the mother is obliged to support her children and good health is necessary. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is just the medicine you can depend upon. It is a medicine for women's ailments and the relief it brought Mrs. Enrico it may bring to you. Keep well by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Important to all Women Readers of this Paper

Thousands upon thousands of women have kidney or bladder trouble and never suspect it. Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease. If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased.

You may suffer pain in the back, headache, and loss of ambition. Poor health makes you nervous, irritable and may be dependent; it makes any one so.

But hundreds of women claim that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, by restoring health to the kidneys, proved to be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

Many send for a sample bottle to see what Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine, will do for them. By enclosing ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., you may receive sample size bottle by Parcel Post. You can purchase medium and large size bottles at all drug stores.—Advertisement.

Self Supporting. An attorney of Los Angeles advertised for a chauffeur. Some twenty odd responded and were being questioned as to qualifications, efficiency and whether married or single. Finally, turning to a negro chap, he said: "How about you, George; are you married?"

Quickly the negro responded: "Now, sir, boss, now, sir. Ah makes mah own livin'."—Judge.

Feel Stiff and Achy After Every Cold?
Do You Have Constant Backache? Feel Old and Lame and Suffer Sharp, Rheumatic Pains? Then Look to Your Kidneys!

DOES every cold, chill or attack of grip leave you worn-out and utterly miserable? Do you feel old and lame, stiff and rheumatic? Does your back ache with a dull, unceasing throb, until it seems you just can't stand it any longer?

Then look to your kidneys! Grip, colds and chills are mighty hard on the kidneys. They fill the blood with poisons and impurities that the kidneys must filter off. The kidneys weaken under this rush of new work; become congested and inflamed.

It's little wonder, then, that every cold leaves you with torturing backache, rheumatic pains, headaches, dizziness and annoying bladder irregularities.

But don't worry! Simply realize that your kidneys are overworked at such times and need assistance. Get a box of Doan's Kidney Pills and give your weakened kidneys the help they need. Assist them, also, by drinking pure water freely, eating lightly and getting plenty of fresh air and rest. Doan's Kidney Pills have helped thousands and should help you. Ask your neighbor!

"Use Doan's," Say These Grateful Folks:

Mrs. T. Testeen, 315 W. Chippewa St., Dwight, Ill., says: "I caught cold and it settled in my kidneys and brought on backache. When I was sweeping, sharp pains would shoot through the small of my back. I was drowsy and it was hard to keep awake at times. My feet swelled so I could hardly put my shoes on. I had dull pains in the back of my head and dizzy spells came over me when I would have to put my hand on a chair to keep from falling. I read about Doan's Kidney Pills and used one box and they gave me relief."

Geo. L. Richardson, retired farmer, 402 Lincoln Ave., Dixon, Ill., says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills for some years off and on as a tonic for my kidneys and they have kept them active and healthy. I had signs of kidney disorder such as heavy, full feeling across my back just over my kidneys, especially when I have taken cold. The kidney secretions were somewhat retarded at times. Doan's have always proved a valuable remedy in curing these attacks. They keep me in good health for a man of my age. I can recommend Doan's to old people."

Tourneur Discovered
Barbara Bedford

The "discovery" of the new Fox star, Barbara Bedford, is laid at the door of Maurice Tourneur, the famous motion picture director. Miss Bedford, while visiting friends in Los Angeles, was introduced to Tourneur, and he immedi-ately recognized in her a desirable screen type. He asked her to visit him at his studio as a natural courtesy, but hoped to obtain a test of her features.

Following Barbara's first visit to the studio, Tourneur asked her if she cared to pose for the camera, and Miss Bed-ford, inspired by the novelty of her sur-roundings, she was made happy by the request. She posed, and the result more than bore out Tourneur's opinion.

Her next part was that of leading lady in "Deep Waters." Almost un-heard of was this sudden leap into the front ranks, and the critics were un-animous in their praise.

Barbara Bedford went from one success to another, until she finally joined the Fox forces. Her excellent work there has won for a place in stardom, and her first stellar role is in "Cinderella of the Hills," a picture which is scheduled at the Majestic Theatre, Sunday.
